This is the second consecutive year in which Corepoint Integration Engine received this recognition by KLAS.

The 2010 Top 20 Best in KLAS Awards: Software & Professional Services is a summary of performance data collected over the past 12 months from healthcare IT Executives and professionals. Included in the report is a ranking of the top vendors overall, as well as a ranking of the top vendors in key areas of performance.

“We are incredibly honored by the recognition and appreciate the continuous feedback from our customers. This direct customer view is what enables us to consistently improve both our products and services,” said Phil Guy, CEO, Corepoint Health.

“Healthcare integration is critical to supporting physicians and clinicians in the delivery of patient care. It is good to see our market segment stepping up to support health IT professionals by delivering high quality products and support. As healthcare interoperability continues to be even more essential in the effective delivery of patient care, Corepoint Health is committed to exceeding our customers’ expectations.”

Guy continued, “There are two aspects of this report which really excite us. The first is the feedback and ratings received from our customers through the KLAS surveys. The second is how the interface engine market segment leads in delivering some of the highest scores when compared to other categories. With the scores across several vendors in our segment rising, it is clear the market is demanding a higher level of support. Corepoint Health is pleased to be a leader in bringing the focus to support and constant improvement.”

Besides having the highest overall score in the interface engine market segment, 100% of Corepoint Health customers also acknowledged they would buy Corepoint Integration Engine again.

“Healthcare interoperability is our prime focus, and our customers tell us that we are persistent in delivering new features and functions. The Corepoint Integration Engine platform enables interface professionals to simplify the deep complexities of working with multiple healthcare standards and interfaces,” stated Dave Shaver, CTO, Corepoint Health. “With each release, we listen closely to customer feedback and requirements balanced with prospective future market demands – especially with Meaningful Use.”

Shaver summarized, "Receiving the number 1 ranking by KLAS in the interface engine market segment energizes us to maintain our intense focus on delivering the highest quality, easiest-to-use products in the healthcare integration market today."
